Kaiser is valued at $50 in Ireland. The valuation was made in the claim of Ronald McNell, a member of the British House of Commons, for £20,000 damazes for the malicious burning of his residence in Vushendun, County Antrim. One of the items listed was an autograph of the former Kaiser written into a souve-nir book inscribed "Conversations With Christ" which was presented to Mr. McNeil by one of his daughters. The autograph was written into the book by the former Kaiser when the McNeils made a trip to

On cross-examination McNeil declared the autograph would easily sell for $50 and that its value was much greater than that to him as a memento which would have become a family heirloom. "An auto-graph," he added, "does not depend on the character of its writer."
